

Software and internet service provider

Sector: IT

Problem faced by our client:

A renowned software and internet service provider was looking to develop their first-time managers on self-awareness, team awareness and to turn them into people's managers.

How did we help?

Blanchard® proposed a Self-leadership and Blanchard Management Essentials® training program.

Benefits experienced by the client:

The participants learned to set goals for themselves and their teams and recognize the developmental levels and guide them with the right conversations while using the essential skills.

Results Achieved:

Attending the 'Blanchard Management Essentials' Journey has given the participants perspectives and deal with day to day work life situations easily.
